

I repeatedly receive calls from telemarketers asking for a person who doesn't even live at my phone number. I have had this phone number for almost two years and I still get calls for the person who used to have this phone number. The telemarketers are clearly not taking my number off their call lists even though I tell them that person is no longer at this phone number.